Hi Rick,

FYI - The Lake and Peninsula Borough was one of the groups that was upset (they wanted us to consider going to King Salmon and Iliamna) about the Administrator's trip back in July. The message below speaks to the need to get the updates out to all of the stakeholders, this was one of the entities that Judy has on the stakeholder list.

Ex. 5 - Deliberative

Ex. 5 - Deliberative

This would take some leg work from Judy (since I will be out and can't help), putting together a list of entities that represent large areas, when they meet regularly, and find out if we can do an update over the phone (if they have that capability for their meetings). Then we can determine which entities want to meet, when those meetings are and how we might string a series of trips together to save on travel funds.

Thanks - Tami

Hello everyone Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy but thought this a message I should reply to promptly. I think I should meet with them but given travel money is not a renewable resource I would like your input. This consultant is the one who spoke with our contractor and this Borough I think is generally not in favor of EPA's actions to date.

Mr. Parkin,

I am a consultant working for the Lake and Peninsula Borough – the local government with jurisdiction over the Pebble-deposit area. The Borough would like to invite hopefully yourself, but if not another representative of the EPA, to talk about the EPA's Bristol Bay Watershed Assessment.

The Borough is the local government that will be most affected – positively or negatively -- by the Assessment, and we would very much appreciate it if we could get an explanation and an opportunity to ask questions and interact. We are hoping for an informal discussion with an opportunity for presentation and question at a workshop that precedes the Assembly meeting. Assembly members live all over the Borough and get together for Assembly meetings on the 3rd Tuesday of each month. The workshop is the day before. The Assembly does not meeting during summer months, and so the only days remaining would be April 18th or May 16th.

Thank you for your consideration. We look forward to hearing from youj.
